Request - FOI 7762

Please detail all GIS/Map software licences held which allow you to supply internal and external (i.e publicly viewable) map data and their relevant costs (initial cost, subscription or contract fees etc).

Please also supply the renewal dates for any contracts that are involved with the software.

Response - FOI 7762

Please detail all GIS/Map software licences held which allow you to supply internal and external (i.e publicly viewable) map data and their relevant costs (initial cost, subscription or contract fees etc)

See details below.

ArcMap	48
ArcMap Server (LocalView)	3
MapInfo	458
FME (Superpose)	2
Cartology	3

Their relevant costs (initial cost, subscription or contract fees etc).

Our Information and Communication Technology (ICT) supplier Service Birmingham do not hold this information as separate costs. This service is provided as part of the overall contract with Birmingham City Council.

Service Birmingham won the contract that went through an Office Journal of the European Union (OJEU) process in 2006 to exclusively supply ICT to Birmingham City Council. The contract with Service Birmingham was extended in April 2011 and ends in 2021.

Information that is held by Service Birmingham covers the total cost of providing GIS applications as a total service under the contract with Birmingham City Council and will include all associated costs. This information is provided to the Council's Intelligent Client Function in the spotlight report. However it will not answer the question and to release the total costs for GIS applications would be significantly higher than other Local Authority responses to the same question who provide an 'in house' service.

Please also supply the renewal dates for any contracts that are involved with the software.

The contracts are between Service Birmingham and third party suppliers they are not BCC contracts therefore not subject to Freedom of Information Act regulations.

Service Birmingham won the contract that went through an OJEU process in 2006 to exclusively supply ICT to BCC. The contract with Service Birmingham was extended

All GIS software contracts were novated to Service Birmingham at the start of the contract in 2006. Birmingham City Council, therefore, have no knowledge in respect of the renewal dates of GIS software contracts.
