

Garage rent: your questions answered

Your annual garage rent is collected on a weekly basis. No rent is charged to your account during Payment Holidays. There will be four `Payment Holidays` between 16-23 December 2013 and 10-17 March 2014.

This means as long as your account is up to date there is no need for you to pay rent during the `Payment Holidays`. If your account is in arrears you must continue to make payments to reduce or clear the outstanding balance.

How will I know when to pay my garage rent?

You can go on-line and register an account with us at www.birmingham.gov/register. This will enable you to view your account and see when your next payment is due; you can also download a rent payment calendar, set up a Direct Debit and make a payment 24 hours a day.

If my account is in arrears, do I have to pay during payment holidays?

Yes, if your account is in arrears, you must continue to make payments during payment holidays in order to reduce or clear your arrears.

What if I pay by monthly direct debit through my bank?

If your account is up to date your direct debit payments will be reduced during December and March. If you have arrears on your account your housing officer will contact you to increase the amount collected to help you clear the arrears.

If you need more information about direct debits visit www.birmingham.gov.uk/rent or if you need help with your rent account call 0121 675 2006.
